BHS launch new rehoming scheme

The British Horse Society is pleased to announce its new rehoming scheme established to assist horse owners to find safe new homes for their horses.

The British Horse Society receives many requests for help from horse owners urgently seeking new homes for their horses. For most, the prospect of parting with their horse is heartbreaking but unavoidable. As many equine rescue centres are running at, or near to, capacity, finding a safe, experienced and knowledgeable home – and doing so quickly – is not always easy. The BHS has therefore established a rehoming scheme to help existing owners find suitable new homes for their horses.

If you are currently looking for a new horse there is also the opportunity to register your details with the BHS. This can either be for a ridden or companion horse or pony. The BHS will then aim to match up a horse wanted with those in need of a new home. Graham Cory, Chief Executive said: "At a time of economic difficulty like this there are many horse owners who find themselves no longer able to care for their animals. It is crucial that horses in this situation are rehomed responsibly and safely. No organisation is better placed to assist with this than the British Horse Society and we are very excited to be launching our new rehoming scheme".

For further information on the scheme please contact 01926 707791 or e.hannelly@bhs.org.uk

Bridleways – Your chance to have a “Say”

'Public Rights of Way - A Big Step Forward'. The Government is seeking your comments. This is the opportunity for you to have your say. You can do this on the Government website:

<http://www.government-news.co.uk/natural-england/201003/rights-of-way-a-big-step-forward.asp>

It has a link to the report - just click the button that says 'Read Full Story'. It is really vital to let the Government know just how difficult it is to get bridleways onto the definitive map in your area. For example:

- Is there a good bridleway network in your area?
- Do you have time to do research?
- Have you ever put in a claim and if so what happened?
- How good/bad is your local authority at processing claims?

This is a unique opportunity to make your voice heard.

Horse riders urged to have their say on dangerous dogs

The British Horse Society is encouraging horse riders and owners to respond to a consultation document issued by the government on dangerous dogs.

Defra is consulting on a number of options as to how the current situation regarding dangerous dogs might be improved. The British Horse Society is keen to see as many equestrians as possible respond to the consultation. The Society has been collecting information from the victims of dog attacks over the last 10 years in an effort to demonstrate the impact of dangerous dogs on horse riders and owners.

During that time, more than 97 reports have been received from victims of dog attacks – 74 of which have occurred in the last three years – and this only covers those that have been reported to the Society. Ten of these attacks proved fatal for the horse and another 42 resulted in injury to a horse. Alongside this, 43 riders and owners have suffered injury, demonstrating that dangerous dogs have serious implications for equestrians.

The BHS believes the consultation on dangerous dogs raises many pertinent issues to owners and riders of horses, proving their vulnerability to attacks by dangerous dogs.

Mark Weston, Director of Access, Safety and Welfare at the BHS, said: “The number of reported incidents is continuing to rise and steps to make dog owners responsible for their animal’s behaviour would be welcomed by the Society. Any new legislation should cater for dog attacks on horses and riders as they, as proven by our reports, are increasing.”

For further information, please contact: Alison Coleman, The British Horse Society, 01926 707737 or a.coleman@bhs.org.uk.

The consultation document on dangerous dogs can be found via the following link <http://www.defra.gov.uk/corporate/consult/dangerous-dogs/index.htm>
